DRESS GOODS

For camping are to be picked with an eye to their use. Tough, strong, easy to do up, for knocking about in the rough places.

We commence with wiry Seersuckers at 5 cents a yard. Seersucker Ginghams at 9 and 10 cents, and a dozen other desirable kinds, equally low.

Then we have a perfect assortment of light goods--airy, breeze-moving--for service in the sizzling sun. Heavier for evening dews and damps. We have thought of all these things in buying.

All speak in praise of our NEW LINES IN SUMMER CLOTHING. Well-made, fits nicely, looks well. Prices small and a big assortment to select from. Come yourself and fetch the boys.

We have not said much about our FURNISHING GOODS DEPARTMENT, but we might and not exaggerate. It includes all the staples and novelties for Men and Boys. Almost any quality and priced goods found here. Popular prices make business good.

The greatest assortment of TRUNKS AND BAGS in the city. Goods of best Eastern Manufacture.

DAILY RECORD-UNION

WEDNESDAY JUNE 20, 1888

HOME AFFAIRS.

WHY LOGAN'S REMAINS ARE TO BE REMOVED.

The RECORD-UNION is the only paper on the coast, outside of San Francisco, that receives the full Associated Press dispatches from all parts of the world. Outside of San Francisco, it has no competitor, in point of numbers in its home and general circulation throughout the coast.

SAN FRANCISCO AGENCIES.

The paper is for sale at the following places: L. P. Farnsworth, 101 California Street; also Solo Advertising Agent for San Francisco, Grand and Palace Hotel New Market, Market and Taylor Streets; New Stand, 2nd Also, for sale on all trains leaving and coming into Sacramento.

UPON the English-made Cleveland badges at the St. Louis Convention appeared the portrait of Mrs. Cleveland, worked into the silk material by a loom system of which Mr. Thomas Stevens of Coventry, England, is the master. underneath this portrait were the words, "Queen of sixty millions of free people." If Mr. Stevens put the motto there, his blundering may be understood, but if, as is altogether probable—indeed, as must have been the case—he simply "followed copy," and it was written by an American, the man who penned it ought to be shamed from the land, and very little more respect is due any man who wore the ignoble inscription and stopped to think. Thank Heaven, there are no queens in this land over any people. Mrs. Cleveland is an amiable lady and a good woman and all that, but to style her "queen of sixty millions of free people" because she happens to be the wife of a citizen who for nearly another year will fill the office of chief executive officer of the Republic, is a piece of unpardonable gush; a kind of political hogwash that is indecorously disgusting, and a species of extravagant metaphor that guarantees the man who wrote it the exclusive right to the distinguishing title, "connoisseur ass."

He and his conferees ought to be ashamed to look their own wives in the face after that bit of syphilitic prostration. Every decent woman in the land is as much entitled to be dubbed queen of the American people as the bride of Grover Cleveland, and all the explanations given about "literary license," "poetical liberty," and "poetical metaphor" does not help the matter a particle or remove the offense of this partisan dudery one whit. But, after all, considering that the badges were woven in England, did the English character of the legend lack in appropriateness?

In Baltimore Peter Alt, being drunk, seized his wife by the throat, after brutally beating her, and attempted to kill her by strangulation. In the nick of time Peter's son William rescued his mother, saving her from a bullet through the murderous brute, and William now languishes in jail under charge of murder. The law must be satisfied and William be tried, but no American jury will convict that son for saving the life of his mother at the expense of the life of the drunkard cruel fate made his father. The youth ought to be bailed out of prison by Baltimore men who love their mothers and admire chivalrous sons.

We can see no reason why the coming campaign should not be one of ideas, live issues, and universal good nature. No foreign enemy need be apprehended, no national brain fever and leave us with a heavier national debt, and there is no domestic in sight that would stand against us less well than the war of 1861.

It is so seldom that the New York Herald puts so much sense into such brief space that we are surprised into copying the foregoing from that paper of the 13th inst. There is no reason now, and ought to arise none, to prevent the campaign being conducted on the level of good manners free from indecency and slander and with personalities eliminated.

AT CHICAGO.

PREPARING FOR BUSINESS.

Estee Retires Early, but Ellison Does a Little Talking.

On June 19th—Mr. Estee retired to his room before 1 o'clock to night. He said he wished to go to bed early, as he had a long day tomorrow. He said he was surprised at his decision. When defendant for the sum of $100,000 was given him, he said he was not aware that his friends were working for him until a few hours of his election.

"It will be a great eating for our State," said Mr. Ellison. "We have a great deal of State pride, and I am sure the Democrats were greatly pleased over the result of the election. Their temporary Chairmanship at St. Louis, but the Republicans have shown that they can go there."

"Why is it you keep up such a disturbance for me, when you see you are nearly alone in it?"

"We couldn't go home to our people if we did not have a good cause. We are supported by politicians, merchants, and Chamber of Commerce from our State, telling us to hang on and stick by Blaine. And we'll get them!"

A LIVELY NIGHT.

The City by the Lake &amp; Scene of Wild Parties.

CHICAGO, June 19th.—Parading, and marching, and singing and music, and yelling, and squalling and crowding are going on to-night in the streets of Chicago. The city of Chicago might be heard in the middle of Lake Michigan, even though a cyclone raged above her.

Candidates Taking Hope.

[Copyright, 1888, by the California Associated Press.]

CHICAGO, June 19th.—All the candidates have a new lease of life, and are glad to hear that Thurston spoke his mind. Mr. Harrison's friends are jubilant. There is an air of hope in the air, and the Republicans express a feeling of increased hope. The Allian clubs paraded to-night in the streets of the consolidated National Bank of San Diego.
